New York's latest crop of luxury residential developments

Inkwell, Hell's Kitchen

The first residential project in New York City by design firm AvroKO, Inkwell, which has been developed by Gotham, has launched for sales and is expected to be completed before the end of the year. Located in the Hell's Kitchen area at 520 West 45th Street, the former 20th century school-house has been converted into an 18 residency condominium. Interested to retain the academic heritage of the building, the architects included interior details such as full height library ladders on rails across custom cabinetry and blackboards at entranceways.
